Generous in spirit as well as in deed, David spread joy to anyone who was lucky enough to meet him. He was a loving husband to Lisa for 54 years and adoring father to Betsy and Ted.

With his brother and father, David built a successful benefits/human resources consulting firm, Carlin Black, later acquired by William M. Mercer. He continued in the business helping to build Mercer into the world’s largest, international human resources and related financial advice consulting firm. In addition, he served on the boards of a number of nonprofits in Ohio and Michigan including the Princeton Club of Central Ohio and the Little Sturgeon Trout Club.

Lisa and David retired to Wyoming in 1999, where he joined the boards of the Jackson Hole Conservation Alliance, the Wyoming Chapter of the Nature Conservancy, and the Community Foundation of Jackson Hole (2009-2014). He and Lisa have been Silver Co-Challengers of Old Bill’s Fun Run since 2002.

David will always be smiling in our hearts. He will be missed by everyone, except perhaps the trout.

Alan was a former investment banker and entertainment executive who served as President and CEO for Columbia Pictures and 20th Century Fox Film Corporation. Father to Laura, Marc, and Scott, he coached their soccer teams and never missed a single game. During their 52 years of marriage, he and his wife Berte assembled one of the world’s foremost collections of historic Plains Indian art.

The love of fly fishing brought Berte and Alan to Jackson, and they ultimately settled here in 1986. Co-founders and owners of the Snake River Grill, they were also dedicated philanthropists establishing the Hirschfield Center for Children. They inspired the creation of the Intertribal Education and Community Center at Central Wyoming College, and supported many local nonprofits. Alan served on the boards of the Jackson Hole Land Trust, the Grand Teton Music Festival, the Center for the Arts, and the Community Foundation of Jackson Hole (2003-2011).

We will miss his dry wit, playful spirit, and the amazing laugh that filled the room. His love of life will keep him alive to us forever.

Emigrating from Cuba as a young boy, Manuel moved with his family first to Madrid and later to New York City. In 1972, he came to Jackson to work at the Ramada Snow King Inn, becoming the president of the hotel ownership group from the mid-1980s until the fall of 2014. For more than forty years, he never wavered in his vision of making Jackson a world-famous destination. He helped obtain initial START Bus funding, created the public-private partnership to build the Snow King Sports and Events Center, and advocated for the Center for the Arts. He served on the board of the Community Foundation from 2006-2010.

While officially crowned King of the King in 2014, the title was never really in dispute for over four decades. Manuel worked tirelessly to create a vibrant community, and there was scarcely an event that did not include his smiling presence.

In 1984, he married artist Deborah Wilson, and they raised their two boys, Alexander and Sebastian, in Jackson. Manuel was a word-class hugger and family man, and his laughter had no accent.
In recent months, we have lost some of the Community Foundation’s best friends: Ann Breedlove, David Carlin, Ted Donnan, Alan Hirschfield, Manuel Lopez, Ron Saypol and Dusty Weiss. This sad time has been filled with reflection about how they each helped shape our community, and how devastated we feel by their absence. It also makes us ask, “How will we be remembered?”

When Mr. Old Bill was a young boy during the Great Depression, he and his father saw a young mother and two children who were dressed only in ragged sweaters in the middle of a freezing Canadian winter. The young Mr. Old Bill watched his father escort them into the department store and buy winter coats, hats and gloves for all three of them, even though he knew his own family had no money to spare. When he asked his father why he bought clothing for strangers, his dad simply responded that they were in need. With that selfless gesture, Mr. Old Bill’s father left a legacy that would ultimately come to define Jackson Hole.

Old Bill’s father taught his children well, and now we, in turn, are teaching ours. Last summer, six-year old Megan emptied $3.31 from her piggy bank on my desk and gave me instructions on the three nonprofits receiving her designated gifts. She solemnly assured me that the donations would be worth even more because of the match.

Our investments in Old Bill’s Fun Run enrich our community today, but it is the example of generosity that will inspire future generations to truly change the world. Megan and her children’s children will be the Johnny Appleseeds of philanthropy, spreading the power of compassion and caring wherever they go. In Jackson Hole, we proudly pass along that inheritance.
Back in 1987, Jean Adams asked Julie to help create a community foundation. They spent the next two years preparing and ultimately founded the Community Foundation of Jackson Hole in 1989. Along the way, they were joined by a variety of other community visionaries. They believed that a community foundation’s versatility could provide charitable giving options for donors, while at the same time offering nonprofits financial support, capacity building workshops and mentoring services that were not then available in Jackson Hole. Donors appreciated a neutral information source to better understand the community’s needs, and the opportunity to create personal funds within the Community Foundation.
Foundation structure. Nonprofits appreciated professional development opportunities and the additional philanthropic support. Community foundations exist to creatively and efficiently address these issues.

According to Julie, "Donors here wanted their contributions to be spent immediately, rather than being endowed where they might not accomplish exactly the benefactor’s goals. That is precisely what Mr. and Mrs. Old Bill had in mind, as well as engaging the entire community in philanthropy, when they proposed Old Bill’s Fun Run. Old Bill’s was very exciting when it came to fruition, and it wouldn’t have happened without the prior establishment of this community foundation."

The Oberings moved to Jackson from Denver in 1985 and raised two children, John and Camille, here. They share a love of art, and their collections include Chinese porcelains, Spanish colonial religious pieces and contemporary art. "I had no idea where life was going to take me; I just didn’t want to be bored. Collecting was one way to keep that from happening," said Will.

For Christmas, John and Camille received art as gifts. "They sometimes wanted toys or the fad of the season, but we kept telling them, 'You’ll remember the art and forget the toys.' It proved to be true."

Their shared passions for art and fly fishing have taken them around the world. "Collecting is an enriching experience. Art travels have taken us to fairs, museums, galleries, and private collections in many places including Bozeman, Miami, Basel, Berlin and Hong Kong. Fairs are especially stimulating and exciting, but after a few days I often experience sensory overload," said Julie.

"Fly fishing together began in Jackson Hole and has taken us to beautiful and interesting places, including Argentina, England, Italy, New Zealand, and Slovenia, but returning to our unique community is always appreciated. Julie can out-fish me yet," said Will. According to Julie, she just tries to keep up and give him a run for his money.

Julie was raised in Carmel Valley, CA and attended the University of Denver. She served on the Community Foundation board for 9 years, as well as serving on the boards of the Jackson Hole Land Trust and the National Museum of Wildlife Art. Will spent most of his childhood in Oklahoma before attending the University of Oklahoma, joining the Army and then moving to Denver where he met Julie 45 years ago. A geologist by trade, Will and his son John run Helm Energy, LLC, the family oil and gas business. Daughter Camille started a Jackson-based business, Camille Obering Fine Art, proving that those early Christmas gifts did make a lasting impression.
2014 Competitive Grants

Through its Competitive Grants program, the Foundation supports projects with significant local impact. Applications are reviewed twice a year by a diverse committee of community volunteers, and funding for this program is provided by Old Bill’s Fun Run Co-Challengers, private donors and endowed funds held at the Foundation. The Micro Grants program provides small amounts of money for projects that are unique, unexpected and demonstrate potential to make a meaningful impact in our community. Donors to these funds include:

Adams Health and Human Services Endowment • Clearview Strategies/Annie & Travis Riddell • Collister Family Fund • Jean & Tim Day • Fir Creek Ranch • Four Seasons Resort Jackson Hole • Jaquith Family Foundation • Scott Kitchen • Tim Libassi • Amy & Lyle McReynolds • Meg and Bert Raynes Wildlife Fund • Ruth Moran & James Rooks • Carol & Chuck Schneebeck • Sandy & Dick Shuptrine • Pike H. Sullivan Jr. Conservation Endowment • Sibyl Wiancko Memorial Endowment for Conservation and Environment

For the next few years, Mickey traveled the state listening to the needs of women. The Equipoise Fund, a private foundation which energizes, enriches, and encourages the vision, voice and visibility of women and girls of Wyoming, was the result of her research. One of the first initiatives was a documentary film chronicling the varied lives of women in Wyoming.
the state called “Don’t Fence Me In”. The Equipoise Fund went on to incubate 4 programs – Womentum, Wyoming Women’s Legislative Caucus, Raising Girls and Thrive. Each program focuses on creating opportunities for and improving the lives of Wyoming’s women.

Mickey’s motivation has always been to fill the cracks – doing what others have not or could not. One of her earliest memories is from her job collecting milk money in 1st grade. She felt a responsibility to subsidize her peers who could not afford the 3 cent price tag. “There have been lots of people in my life who have believed in me, and they are the wind beneath my wings. I want to return the favor,” she said. That’s also the motivation behind the scholarship awards and legacy gift she established at her alma mater, Rhodes College. When she graduated in 1998, she wore red high top shoes, and that became a tradition at the school. It was her way of saying “walk loudly through life.”

New to the Jackson community in the early 90’s, Mickey decided to spend a summer volunteering with the Community Foundation to understand the needs here and how she could help. That initial exposure led her to establish a philanthropic fund. “At some point in the future, I will convert The Equipoise Fund from a private operating foundation to another donor advised fund with the Community Foundation of Jackson Hole. This will give me more personal freedom and still give me the capacity to meet my philanthropic goals.”

Mickey believes that we’re all given challenges along with opportunities, and the ability to frame both. We can choose to make a difference in someone’s life or not, and it doesn’t have anything to do with the size of our bank account. “I love watching someone succeed and empower others, knowing that I’ve contributed to that in some way. That is an amazing gift to me.”

Mickey Babcock was born in Grosse Pointe, MI. In the mid-60’s, her family moved to a town near Nashville, TN. She started her undergraduate degree at Memphis State University, however, at age 19, she left the theatre program, got married and started an antiques, gifts and interior design business. The rest of her professional career was spent in the residential and commercial interior design field. She is a trustee emeritus at Rhodes College and is currently pursuing a graduate degree in Engaged Humanities through Pacifica Graduate Institute. She spends her down time with her two dogs, Zeke and Cyrus, and recreating in the Tetons.

Leslie and Chris Johnson met in April 1985. Never too shy to insert himself, Chris joined Leslie late that summer on a vacation to Greece that she had already planned with friends. It was on that trip that Leslie and Chris were married. "The marriage license is Greek to us. We had to jump through a lot of hoops to make it happen," said Chris.

Spontaneous adventure still characterizes their marriage; Leslie and Chris bought their home in Jackson without ever visiting the other resort communities on their list. Snowboarders, skiers and hikers, their four kids love it, too. "It’s pretty magical here – everything from the light to the wildlife," said Leslie. Being a horsewoman, Leslie looks forward to spending more time here and having horses in her barn on the property. Together, they have acquired an art collection reflective of their love of Western culture.
Leslie and Chris could never live somewhere without contributing in some way. For them, observing the wildlife and playing in the Tetons is not enough to be part of the community. They believe the best way to feel connected is to give back.

Leveraging her background in education, Leslie co-founded TrekEpic, a California nonprofit that provides young adults with an intercultural European trekking experience to broaden horizons, promote self-awareness, and gain momentum in the world. Chris has also spent much of his career in the education world, inspiring high school students in his AP Government and Macroeconomics courses. Their passion for learning extends to their philanthropy, as well.

Already familiar with the community foundation model through their family foundation in Woodside, CA, the couple contacted the Community Foundation of Jackson Hole shortly after they moved here. “Community foundations do the hard work of finding and supporting a lot of really neat organizations that are providing compelling programming,” said Chris. They are members of the Foundation’s Stewardship Circle, a group of donors who invest in the community by directly supporting the work of the Community Foundation. With these dollars, the Foundation provides resources like affordable educational workshops and supplemental funding for nonprofits making a significant local impact.

"My father was always generous with his time," said Leslie. "He never turned down anyone who needed his help, and I want to be like him." The Johnsons are helping thousands in our community through their Old Bill’s Fun Run Diamond Co-Challenger gift. “We love seeing everyone at Old Bill’s. There are so many great grassroots organizations that speak to our community. The fact that the Foundation organizes this each year is pretty amazing.”

Leslie Johnson grew up in San Mateo, California, the youngest of four siblings. She obtained her bachelor’s degree in Child Development at California Polytechnic State University then completed her master’s degree in Special Education and received her teaching credentials from San Francisco State University. She is on the board of 10 Books A Home and Victory Ranch. Much of her time in Jackson is spent hiking, often with her adult children Coulter, Molly, Sam and Chandler who visit as often as possible. The children also contribute to the community through their volunteer work. Chris was born and raised in California with his two younger siblings. He graduated from University of California Los Angeles. When in Jackson, Chris likes to exercise, read, take in the Tetons from his porch and listen to live music. He collects wine and attends the Grand Teton Music Festival’s wine auction each summer. The Johnson’s spend most of the year with their two horses and three dogs, Boone, Dakota and Jessie, in their Woodside, CA home where Leslie grew up.
Members of the Stewardship Circle have chosen to invest in the community by directly supporting the work of the Community Foundation. With their philanthropic dollars, the Foundation is able to convene the community around topics and issues of local concern. Their generosity also helps to provide important resources like Volunteer Jackson Hole, the Nonprofit Directory, a bi-annual Salary Survey, educational workshops and our Competitive Grants programs to all of Jackson’s nonprofits.

Through the Community Foundation’s Youth Philanthropy program, over 50 local high school students are learning how to award grants effectively by soliciting and reviewing applications, meeting with charitable organizations and discussing strategies for community impact. Donors, who have raised $20,000 for this fund, include:
Carolyn & Jim Augé • Richard Bolk • Tobi Lynne Breholz • Collister Family Fund • John Edward Fox Fund • Jannotta-Pearsall Family Fund • Claire & Glen Perrin • Smokey & Chuck Rhea • William Waterman

In 2013, an anonymous donor helped establish the Future Mr. or Mrs. Old Bill Scholarship. The recipient – chosen from the participants in the Foundation’s Youth Philanthropy program – is awarded $1,500 toward college tuition and $500 to grant to the nonprofit of his or her choice. Finalists each receive $250 to grant to their favorite charities.

THE FINALISTS FOR THE 2014 FUTURE MR. OR MRS. OLD BILL SCHOLARSHIP:
Madeline Carlman, Journeys School
Marisol Hernandez, Jackson Hole Community School
Melissa Palmer, Jackson Hole Community School
McKenzie Reed, Journeys School
Elsa Roush, Jackson Hole High School

THE 2014 RECIPIENT OF THE FUTURE MR. OR MRS. OLD BILL SCHOLARSHIP:
Samantha Walls, Jackson Hole High School, has been involved with the Youth Philanthropy Program for 4 years. This year she was President of Key Club and helped lead the Youth Philanthropy program. Through Key Club, she has volunteered at the Wind River Reservation, for the Salvation Army and for the Jackson Hole Canine Carnival. Sammie went to Ghana during her sophomore spring break and helped build a library and a bridge and taught at the primary school there. She volunteers at the Teton County Animal Shelter and Teton Literacy Center. She is collaborating with a student she met in Ghana who sends his handmade bags for her to sell here to raise money for his family. Sammie chose CLIMB Wyoming to receive her grant funds.

*Deceased
Pike Sullivan’s introduction to Jackson Hole was on a fly fishing trip. He was so taken with the experience, he suggested to his wife Sue that the two spend one week each September in Montana and Wyoming. Over the years, the Sullivans got to know Jackson and the people that make up this community. In 1993, Pike retired as Chairman of the Board and CEO of the investment advisory firm Peter B. Cannell & Co., and the couple moved here permanently.

Pike recognized that he was not alone in his love for the Teton area. The wildlife, open spaces and the splendor of the mountains were magnetic. He dedicated his philanthropic resources to preserving these unique qualities for generations to come.

Pike and Sue are part of the Community Foundation’s Legacy Society. After he passed away in 2013, the Foundation established the Pike H. Sullivan, Jr. Grant for Conservation and awarded the first grant to the Grand Teton National Park Foundation for the Jenny Lake Restoration Campaign.

The campaign will use the Pike H. Sullivan, Jr. grant to create a matching opportunity to inspire a broad base of community participation. This national treasure is often the first introduction visitors have to the Park, and locals frequent Jenny Lake all summer. It is critical to preserve the trails, boat ramp and overlook that have all been well-loved to the point of damage to the surrounding fragile habitat.

We are grateful to have been chosen to steward Pike and Sue’s legacy gift. The annual grant will honor his love of nature, and their generosity will protect Jackson Hole for future generations.

2014 Tin Cup Challenge (Modeled after Old Bill’s)

- 2014 was the most successful Tin Cup Challenge yet, raising a total of $1,193,369 to benefit Teton Valley nonprofits.
- 937 donors gave to their favorite charities through the Tin Cup Challenge with a median gift of $200.
- Teton Valley raised over $1 million for the 4th year in a row, and the Tin Cup Challenge has raised over $7 million for Teton Valley’s nonprofits in just 7 years.
- In 2014, we added 26 new Challengers, for a total of 114 businesses, couples and/or individuals who gave $1,000 or more to the Challenger Fund.
- The match percentage for 2014 was again 54%, meaning that for every $10,000 raised (up to $25k), each nonprofit received another $5,400 from the Community Foundation of Teton Valley and the Tin Cup Challengers.
- The Tin Cup Challenger Fund pays for 100% of the cost of the Tin Cup Challenge, allowing the Community Foundation to offer this event FREE OF CHARGE to local nonprofits.

Grants

- In 2014, the Community Foundation awarded over $43,000 in competitive grants, funding the projects and programs of 26 local nonprofits.
- In 7 years, the Community Foundation has awarded nearly $200,000 in grants to local nonprofits.
- In its 3rd year, the Youth Philanthropy Program involved over 20 Teton High School students who developed a deeper appreciation for philanthropy and the critical role played by local nonprofits in improving the quality of life in Teton Valley.

Community Needs

The Community Foundation of Teton Valley served as a catalyst for meeting critical needs in Teton Valley by convening monthly "Filling the Gaps in Teton Valley" meetings, bringing together health and human service providers from the region to network and improve residents’ access to available social services.
