The Community Foundation of Jackson Hole

SALARY SURVEY

Community Foundation of Jackson Hole
Introduction

The Community Foundation conducted the first Jackson Hole Nonprofit Salary Survey in 1998 as a resource for Executive Directors and Boards of local nonprofit agencies when developing budgets and reviewing employee compensation. Since then, the Foundation has produced two additional surveys – one in 2004 and another in 2007. The 2010 survey is the fourth edition and includes information on how organizations have responded to the changing economy.

To learn more about the technical assistance and services available to nonprofits, please visit the Community Foundation website www.cfjacksonhole.org or contact our office at 307-739-1026.
The Community Foundation of Jackson Hole
2010 Nonprofit Salary Survey

Organizations have been grouped based on annual budget size. While we tried to ensure a reasonable representation in each category, please note that information in the report is not inclusive of all Jackson Hole nonprofits – only those organizations that responded to the survey. The number of respondents is listed in each category. When comparing the 2010 Salary Survey report to the 2007 or 2004 report, please note that the categories have changed.

2010 Jackson Hole
Nonprofit Salary Survey
Executive Summary

Respondents
- One hundred eleven nonprofit organizations in Teton County, Wyoming were invited to participate in the 2010 nonprofit salary survey. Seventy-five organizations completed the survey for a 68% response rate, including salary data for 360 full time positions, 140 part time and contract employees, and 148 seasonal workers for a total of 648 paid staff.
- These organizations utilize over 2,500 community volunteers every year. Thirty-four percent of responding organizations offer a formal volunteer training and orientation program, and 61% are seeking to expand their volunteer program.
- In 2007, the salary survey was sent to 97 nonprofit organizations in Teton County, Wyoming and received 70 responses, including salary data for 247 paid staff and 83 contract positions for a total of 330 positions. The 2004 salary survey received 71 responses, including salary information for 253 total positions in Teton County, Wyoming and Teton County, Idaho. Forty-five nonprofits participated in the first Community Foundation of Jackson Hole salary survey in 1998.
- Of the 75 responding organizations, 28% are health and human service agencies; 15% focus on educational programs; 21% work on conservation/environmental issues; 9% are related to the arts; and three organizations (4%) characterized themselves as focusing on: recreation, animals and civic, respectively. Twelve organizations, or 15%, focus on some “other” category including transportation, religion and international policy.
- The largest response group included 21 organizations with annual operating budgets between $100,000 and $299,999. The second largest response group was organizations with budgets over $1 million with 14 responses.
- Forty-nine participating organizations pay for dedicated office space.
- Participating nonprofit organizations are responding to the difficult financial situation in a variety of ways: 30% reduced staff and/or reduced programs, while 25% reduced employee hours and/or salaries. Another 25% increased volunteer use, and 20% reduced benefits. Forty percent responded in some “other” way, such as salary and hiring freezes, increasing workloads without increasing salaries and utilizing additional VISTA volunteers. Several organizations also commented that the poor economic situation has increased demand for their services (this was a multiple answer question).

Salaries (see tables for detailed information)
- Salaries varied greatly by budget size and number of hours worked per week. The overall mean salary for CEO/Executive Director was $64,509 when all salaries were calculated at 40 hours/week. However, the mean salary for full time salaried CEOs was $74,939, up approximately $10,000 from the fulltime CEO mean salary of $65,000 in 2007.
- Mean salaries for full time salary employees increased an average of 16% from 2007. Full time Executive Director salaries increased an average of 15%, while Chief Operating Officer and Chief Financial Officer salaries increased an average of 7% and 13%, respectively. Development Directors saw the largest salary increase of 29%, while specialized staff salaries increased just 1%.
2010 Jackson Hole
Nonprofit Salary Survey
Executive Summary

- Salaries are shown in the report where the majority of the responses reflect a full time salaried position; responses provided for part time salary or hourly employees were calculated for a full time (40 hours/week) salary in these instances. Where an hourly wage is shown, the majority of responses reflect an hourly position.

Issues Specific to CEO/Executive Directors
- As would be expected, CEOs at organizations with a budget over $1 million receive the highest pay, averaging more than double the mean salary for the smallest organizations surveyed, at $101,750. This is a $15,000 increase from the average CEO salary of $85,800 in 2007 for organizations surveyed with a budget over $1.5M.
- Twenty-four of 57 responding Executive Directors are under 50 years old, while the same number are 50-59, and nine CEOs are over 60 years old; 64% are women.
- Over 40% of CEOs hold a bachelor’s degree and another 40% hold a Masters or PhD.
- Six CEOs reported their relocation expenses were paid when they moved for their current position. Fifty percent own their home, and 9% receive a housing allowance.
- Overall, participating Executive Directors had been in their position an average of eight years, and had 11 years prior experience.
- Fourteen percent of responding CEOs have a succession plan in place for their position.
- Of the 10% highest paid CEOs, all are receiving an annual salary over $100,000, two have been in their position five years or less, and all but one have ten or more years prior experience.

Benefits
- As in 2004 and 2007, well over half offer some health insurance and paid vacation:
  - 72% provide medical insurance, 45% offer dental coverage;
  - 80% offer paid vacation, 69% also offer sick days, and 48% allow staff members to take unpaid leave;
  - Only 34% of organizations provide maternity/paternity leave;
  - 66% report employees have “flexible schedules.”
- Less than half, 38%, offer a retirement plan or 403(b), down 2% from 2007.
- Other benefits offered include: 55% have employee education and professional development opportunities; 8% offer a housing loan or allowance; and 6% have a staff ski pass or discount.

Local Context
- Salary ranges by position for the Town of Jackson and Teton County show salaries for municipal department heads and County agency directors range $68,000-$98,000, compared to the average nonprofit Executive Director salary of $64,509. In addition, municipal associate planner and Public Health Nurse average $45,090, eight percent higher than nonprofit specialized staff at $41,092.
- The starting salary for teachers at Teton County School District #1 is $54,528 for a 38-week contract, or a $74,620 annualized salary. On average, local teachers are earning 82% more than nonprofit specialized staff ($41,092).
Professional Directors employed by the Teton County School District start with a $71,792 base salary, with additional increments for responsibility and years of experience. This starting pay is 8% higher than the average nonprofit Executive Director salary of $64,509.

The Wyoming Department of Employment’s Quarterly Covered Employment and Wages report shows the average weekly wage in Teton County by sector for the second quarter, 2009:
- “Professional and Technical Services” earn $56,628 when calculated annually;
- “Administrative & Support Services” earn $33,592 when calculated annually;
- “Social Assistance” employees earn $27,456 when calculated annually;
