We made promises in 2022 – to our community and to ourselves – and we are keeping them.

In the last few years, the Community Foundation has been working towards a deeper understanding of priorities and needs. In 2020 we delivered resources to fill essential needs and make our community more resilient. In 2021 we listened hard to local input about our programs and services and realigned the Foundation to focus on creating a thriving Jackson. In this report on 2022 you will see that we have begun to deliver on promises we’ve made in these past busy years.

Our promises include launching initiatives on topics identified by the community, like behavioral health and community housing, to help our local partners fill gaps in services through shared wisdom and resources. We have increased our services to nonprofit friends by funding Competitive Grants and Youth Philanthropy at a higher level and offered more workshops on timely topics. We have promoted deeper giving through Old Bill’s Fun Run and engaged in community issues like childcare and afterschool programming. Thanks to fundholders and a generous community, we support the next generation through a flourishing Scholarship Program.

Letter from our leadership
This report features programs that will influence the coming years. Each year we feel the pace of change and we know that the Community Foundation has work to do in order to serve the whole community, consistently and with excellence. It takes a remarkable staff and Board to do this work, and we are fortunate to have the best. We hope you will take a look at all the names in the report – from staff and Board to donors – because they are helping to create a community based on mutual support and kindness.

Thank you for being an integral part of this community. We will keep our promises to you.
About Us

Our Mission
To improve lives through philanthropic leadership by:
• providing superior donor services
• making grants that positively impact the community
• ensuring sustainability of the philanthropic community
• acting as a leader, catalyst, and resource

We are a catalyst for common good. We connect generosity with need. We help nonprofits become more efficient and effective. We help Jackson Hole grow more connected and collaborative.

Through expert insight, foresight, and oversight, we live our mission. Directly - and indirectly - we help address initiatives that span the needs and interests of all who live here.

We are a vigorous champion of philanthropy. An enduring community resource. And in September, we throw a great party.

Old Bill’s Fun Run is one of the nation’s most innovative and successful philanthropic initiatives. It is a dynamic concept of collective giving that through 26 years, from donations big and small, has raised more than $228 million to improve lives and livelihoods, maintain meadows and mountains, and safeguard wildlife and waterways.

Every cent helps make change that matters. Every day of every year.

Housing Initiative

In June 2022, the Community Foundation of Jackson Hole, alongside the Cumming Foundation, invested in Jackson Street Apartments LLC, on behalf of the Jackson/Teton County Affordable Housing Department. Once completed, Jackson Street apartments will provide 57 new permanently deed restricted apartments in downtown Jackson.

The Community Foundation is serving as a conduit for Teton County's land and financial investments through the creation of a designated fund and investment in the development's multi-member limited liability company.

“We are honored to play a role in this important housing project, which will help to address Jackson's affordable housing crisis,” stated Community Foundation President Laurie Andrews.

The Jackson Street Apartments development has been years in the making and was initially conceived by the late Ian M. Cumming, Founder and Chairman of Leucadia National Corporation. Before his passing, Cumming shared his vision for the property, which was to build a highly livable, affordable rental development in a way that is scalable both in Jackson and other communities.

Since his passing, the Cumming family and Jackson/Teton County Housing Department have worked with neighbors, civic organizations, and other stakeholders to refine the design of the development so that it balances community character and the high demand for affordable apartments.

The opportunity to participate in an impact investment benefiting the Jackson community aligns with the strategic priorities adopted by the Community Foundation’s board in December 2021.

“The Foundation's unique role in this project has given us a strategic opportunity to help address Jackson's housing crisis.”

- LAURIE ANDREWS
The Teton Behavioral Health Alliance formed in response to the behavioral health needs assessment conducted by the Community Foundation in partnership with FSG, Professional Research Consultants, Inc (PRC), and the Katz Amsterdam Foundation. The survey results, data analysis, and corresponding recommendations were published in a formal report in November 2021. The data demonstrated the increased needs of community members. As a result, collective effort went into forming a Steering Committee that aims to improve the local behavioral health care system. This group of cross-sectoral stakeholders guides the vision of the Alliance and coordinates work across the community to achieve system-level change. Kate Schelbe was hired as the Backbone Leader in September 2022. She provides strategic guidance towards the Alliance's common vision, coordinates activities, and cultivates community engagement to support the Alliance's work. Behavioral Health encompasses mental health and substance use disorders. The Alliance focuses on three main aspects: prevention, treatment, and crisis response and has developed data-driven goals in each of the categories. The Alliance's mission is to address gaps and inequities in the system to benefit all who live and work in Teton County, with the idea that a rising tide lifts all boats.
The Community Foundation’s flagship grants program, Competitive Grants, addresses a diversity of community needs by supporting high-impact projects across multiple nonprofit service areas. Working with volunteer judges with broad interests and backgrounds, Competitive Grants promotes a culture of philanthropy and nonprofit engagement. In 2022, Competitive Grants awarded $724,940 to 50 local nonprofits.

Youth Philanthropy provides meaningful hands-on training to the next generation of philanthropists. In this grants program, local high school students decide how to leverage philanthropy for maximum community impact. They review nonprofit applications, discuss and analyze them with peers, make award determinations, and present grant checks to nonprofits at an awards party. Like Competitive Grants, Youth Philanthropy both supports impactful nonprofit work and promotes a culture of philanthropy.

Future Old Bill Scholarship

2022 RECIPIENT: MONICA ALMANZA

Each year, the Community Foundation honors an exemplary senior in the Youth Philanthropy program with a $1,500 college scholarship and $500 to donate to the nonprofit of their choice. In 2022, Summit Innovations School senior, Monica Almanza, received the Future Old Bill Scholarship. According to her teacher’s nomination, “Monica always has the unique ability to see things from multiple perspectives and is very fair in her evaluation of the grant proposals. She knows when to ask questions, when to listen, and when to advocate.” Monica attends Central Wyoming College, where she is studying criminology and hopes to one day become a detective or FBI agent. Monica chose to donate her $500 award to Teton Botanical Garden.

“Monica always has the unique ability to see things from multiple perspectives and is very fair in her evaluation of the grant proposals.”

- BRIAN HAGER, MONICA’S TEACHER AT SUMMIT INNOVATIONS SCHOOL
Nonprofit Professional Development and Community Resources

NONPROFIT PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT
The Community Foundation is pleased to provide local nonprofits professional development opportunities designed to strengthen their skills and efficacy. In 2022, we returned to in-person workshops and focused on building core competencies and reinvigorating networks in smaller, more intimate sessions. Over 300 nonprofit staff members took advantage of 22 professional development opportunities:

• Executive Director Roundtable (x4)
• Fundraising Intensive (x2)
• The Art of Nonprofit Introductions
• Nonprofit Finance 101 (x2)
• Self-Awareness: The Secret Ingredient to Effective Leadership
• 1:1 “Office Hours” with various nonprofit consultants (x5)
• Boardmanship: Leading Nonprofits as a Team
• Gender Diversity in the Workplace (x3)
• How to Make + Activate a Strategic Development Plan
• Disability Awareness in the Workplace

COMMUNITY RESOURCES
We help the broader Jackson Hole community connect and collaborate by offering free access to online communication tools: the Nonprofit Directory, Nonprofit Listserve, and Volunteer JH. Nonprofits create listings in the directory and post service opportunities to Volunteer JH. Each week, current opportunities are emailed to 1,500 listserve subscribers. Members regularly post announcements, requests for information, and links to valuable resources.

Visit the Resources section at cfjacksonhole.org to learn about local nonprofits, investigate fields of interest, and find volunteer opportunities.
Micro Grants

Occasionally unforeseen situations or surprising opportunities call for a quick and nimble response. That’s why we developed a program that grants resources to nonprofits with focused, distinct, and unexpected projects that address imminent community needs. Micro Grants are designed as a timely funding mechanism for nonprofit projects with meaningful community benefit.

Edelweiss Fund

The Edelweiss Fund, a field of interest endowment fund, was created with a testamentary gift from a first generation American, a pioneering female petroleum geologist from Casper, Wyoming. Named in honor of her Swiss heritage and preference for anonymity, the Edelweiss Fund continues her philanthropic legacy. During her life, she enjoyed helping people in need, especially women who could benefit from additional support to achieve their dreams. She also liked to enrich programs in her favorite fields of study — earth sciences and natural history. The Edelweiss Fund provides annual grants to Wyoming nonprofits based upon her interests and philanthropic priorities.

“Scholarships for nontraditional students, especially single working mothers, are so very important. Research has shown that educating mothers is the single best way to raise the standard of living of a society, and that’s just what this scholarship does.”

- UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING FOUNDATION
The Community Foundation is pleased to co-administer the Teton County Scholarship Program (TCSP) with the Fund for Public Education, in partnership with Teton County School District #1. In 2022, 144 students from across Teton County applied for 255 individual scholarships sponsored by generous local donors. A record $902,000 was awarded to Teton County high school seniors. Sixty-six donors came together to provide the funding for these scholarships, which recognize the many different needs and achievements of local students.

“I continue to be amazed and inspired by the generosity of our community, thank you doesn't seem quite adequate. These scholarships make a difference for our students being able to dream big, and we look forward to seeing where they will go!”

- DR. GILLIAN CHAPMAN, SUPERINTENDENT OF TCSD #1
“Your generous scholarship has lightened my financial burden and will allow me to focus on learning. Your generosity has given me the inspiration to give back to others in the future. I genuinely will never be able to thank you enough!”

- ANONYMOUS SCHOLARSHIP WINNER
Old Bill’s has become a national model for community-wide, collaborative philanthropy. In fact, smaller events modeled after Old Bill’s now take place in other parts of the country. But there is nothing anywhere else that compares with the scope and success of our annual, home-grown phenomenon. In 2022, our 26th year, Old Bill’s set another record: $19.9 million. That makes thirteen record-setting years in a row and a grand total of $228 million raised to preserve, protect, and improve our special community.

A New Wildland Fire Truck with support from the Betty B. Baril Fund

Looking at the serene mountain vistas south of Wilson, the threat of forest fire to our community is visible. Large swaths of the mountains have noticeably less greenery due to the 2001 Green Knoll Fire. Every summer, the threat of another large forest fire looms.

The Wilson Fire Station is tucked in a neighborhood street at the base of Teton Pass and adjacent to thousands of acres of national forest. Thanks to the generosity of the Betty B. Baril Fund a new wildland engine is on order. The wildland engine that will be replaced is a 1979, (44-years old), military issue M35A3. While the sturdy number 28 has served the department well, the Wilson fire crew is excited about the new truck. Built on the most current Ford chassis and completed with a custom build-out by Skeeter Brush Truck, who specializes in all forms of wildland firefighting engines, the new all-terrain truck is tough and compact and will allow for a quick response to fires and other incidents.

Dean Jarvie, Wilson Volunteer Fire Department Board Member, explains, “Since it's a smaller, lighter vehicle than what we had, it will be able to be utilized in many areas where bigger trucks can't operate. Much of our response area is on narrow, twisting roads and/or tight off-road terrain which makes a fast attack vehicle like this perfectly suited to our needs. This engine isn't limited to wildland issues but can be used for fast attack suppression on vehicle fires on and off the highways.”

Captain Chris Mommsen, Wilson Volunteer Captain, adds that “It's a very cool truck, it even has a front bumper mounted water gun that is controlled from inside the cab.”

of the new fire truck and the specific needs of the unique location of Wilson are reasons this project resonated with the wishes of fundholder Betty B. Baril. Betty was born and raised in Jackson and was the daughter of Art and Edna Buckingham. Betty’s father, who she was particularly close to, was a Bridger Teton Forest Supervisor. Both her parents instilled in her a love of working hard for and on the land. Betty appreciated the value of sound equipment and during her life was a long-time supporter of the Wilson Fire department. This is the kind of investment she would have wanted to be part of.

Betty’s legacy lives on through the work of the Betty B. Baril Fund at the Community Foundation, which was established in 2018.

Unrestricted funds are generally the most valuable—and therefore desirable contributions to any nonprofit. We are no exception. From a practical standpoint, these gifts allow us to allocate resources as needed to respond to situations that arise and to manage the services we provide, such as professional development workshops and competitive grants. But even importantly, they give us the time, resources, and flexibility to address the knottiest issues.

Estate planning can begin any time, whether you're working or retired. We can help you create a strategic approach to planned giving. Carefully planned bequests and charitable trusts can provide measures of support that often cannot be duplicated by outright donations. Legacy gifts help us fund both the Foundation and your favorite nonprofits.

“Participating in philanthropy in such a dynamic, compassionate community is a privilege and means so much more than writing a check. We get to interact and collaborate with people and organizations that really want to find solutions. It’s been an honor to do both.”

- ELIZABETH MASEK, LEGACY SOCIETY MEMBER
Julie was born in Illinois, then moved to Muskegon, Michigan, where her parents, Tilio and Martha Giacobassi, taught in the public schools. Her interest in instrumental music began there, as she played oboe in the high school band and orchestra and attended the Blue Lake Arts Camp, both as a camper and counselor.

Julie received a degree in music from the University of Michigan, then played for 10 years in Washington, D.C. with the National Ballet Orchestra, the Kennedy Center Opera House Orchestra, and the National Symphony. In Washington, she discovered the beauty of the English horn (a tenor oboe), and in 1980, she won an audition with the San Francisco Symphony, where she played with great distinction and critical acclaim for the next 25 years.

In 1993, orchestra patron Hugh Taylor commissioned a piece, “Colored Field,” by Aaron Kernis, to be written for her and played with the symphony. Julie’s performance was judged one of the 10 best Bay Area musical events of the year by both area newspapers, and her recording of the piece won an international prize.

After their retirement to Jackson Hole, Julie and her husband Zach Hall, her husband, enjoyed many years of hiking, skiing, and kayaking together in the Tetons. Julie loved this community, in which she was an active and caring member.

For over 12 years, Julie was a volunteer at the Teton Free Clinic, where she oversaw clinic administration, and each week cooked a meal for the volunteers who came to help. Working closely with Amy Gardiner, Executive Director of Teton Free Clinic, Julie also was board chair for many years. “Julie was instrumental in forever changing health care access for so many here,” reflected Gardiner.

Julie and Zach also helped start First in Family Jackson Hole, a scholarship program for local students in financial need and without a family history of college. This program, housed at the Community Foundation of Jackson Hole, was one of Julie’s most satisfying activities. “Julie formed personal bonds as a mentor and friend with many of the students in the program,” remarked Program Coordinator of First in Family Scholarships, Charlotte Quesada Krugh. “She would have been so happy to see the first cohort of First in Family students receive their college diplomas.”

In 2020, Julie and Zach were awarded the Spirit of Old Bill’s Award, which celebrates individuals who embody the values of Old Bill’s – they support local needs with generosity and passion. Throughout her life, Julie exemplified outstanding leadership, enthusiasm, and compassion – always going above and beyond to help those in her community.
Gilman Ordway
1925-2022

During his 97 years of life, Gil Ordway touched innumerable lives with his wit and intelligence. Gil moved to Jackson Hole in 1953, when he purchased 40 acres now known as the Fish Creek Ranch. He added 340 acres of contiguous land and ran it as both a working ranch and dude ranch until 1977, when he converted the guest quarters into modest rental cabins. For guests who appreciated humble quarters in a world-class setting, summers as part of the “Fish Creek Family” became the pivot around which their year turned.

During his 69 years in the valley, Gil immersed himself in the Jackson community. He was passionately committed to preserving Jackson’s landscape for future generations. In a 1989 interview with the Jackson Hole News & Guide, Ordway said of his ranch, “We like to think that 100 years from now the place will be relatively the same. It gives us great satisfaction to know that we have done everything possible to keep Fish Creek Ranch as we have known it in our lifetime … and well into the foreseeable future.”

Gil and his wife, Marge, have been devoted supporters of local nonprofits for decades. Over the years, Gil served in leadership roles for many local nonprofits including Jackson Hole Land Trust, Jackson Hole Conservation Alliance, and Center for the Arts. The Ordways have generously supported the greater nonprofit community for 25 years as Old Bill’s Fun Run CoChallengers and they hold a donor advised fund at the Community Foundation. Gil will be remembered as a leader with steadfast generosity and passion for his community.
William “Bill” Dwight Weiss
1924-2021

Bill was born in San Diego at the U.S. Army hospital on June 5, 1943, to William Erhardt Weiss Jr. and Martha Dwight Douglas. Bill grew up in Cove Neck, New York, and he spent much of his formative years at his mother’s family home during the summer on Lake Geneva, Switzerland. He always joked that his writing was so poor because his French was better than his English.

He earned a B.A. in business administration from Parsons College and graduated in 1968. A year later Bill met and married his wife Robin Biddle Martin. They began their life in Oyster Bay and Cove Neck, New York. Bill dove into the family company, Lambda Drug. He and Robin moved to Beirut, Lebanon, from 1970 to 1972, representing the family business in the Middle East. Upon returning to Oyster Bay they started a family.

1976 was a pivotal year for Bill and Robin. They wanted to leave Long Island and move West. They decided on Cody, largely because of Bill and his father’s connection to and interest in Western art and the Buffalo Bill Historical Center. Bill and his father had a deep love and appreciation of American and Native American art, which influenced their support of the Buffalo Bill Center of the West. Bill and his father ran Medtech Laboratories, where Bill became CEO upon his father’s death in 1987. During his time in Cody, Bill was also the head of the Chamber of Commerce and was appointed to the Wyoming Council of the Arts board by the governor of Wyoming.

In 1988, Bill moved his family to Jackson Hole, where he continued to run Medtech Laboratories. He was also the president of Winvesco Inc., a family investment company, from 1985 until his death. Jackson became home for Bill and his family, and he truly dug into the community and became a huge supporter of many nonprofit organizations. He was a Board member and Vice Chair at the Community Foundation of Jackson Hole from 2005 to 2012. Jackson was where Bill called home, and he truly relished supporting the community and helping to make Jackson the amazing place it is today. To call Bill a pillar of the community is an absolute truth.

Bill had an amazing zest for life as well as a larger-than-life personality. He would light up a room and command presence and was always giving advice, but he was never hurt if one didn’t take it. Perhaps his true legacy will be the impact that he was able to make and how many people’s lives he touched. He was always ready to help and make a difference, and his generosity knew no bounds.
Community Foundation of Teton Valley

The Community Foundation of Teton Valley serves donors, nonprofits, and the community of Teton Valley, Idaho. Founded in 2007, the organization was already up and running its first Tin Cup Challenge in 2008. Modeled after Old Bill’s Fun Run, the event has now raised nearly $20.8 million for the community. Results for 2022 were exceptional.
Foundation Staff

Great achievement involves constant teamwork. It requires leadership that combines foresight with wisdom, a staff that pairs insight with proficiency, and a board that applies oversight with judgment. It demands people who together think, manage, and act to effect change that is constructive, stabilizing, and beneficial. We are that team. We are agents of change for the common good of the Jackson Hole community.
